"We're All Backing Her" Avow the Italian Society

Coleman Rodeo Committees Really Working Strong

"We Think She's A Winner" Says Board of Trade

With the nominating of Miss Marie Berlin, by her sponsoring organization The Italian Society, she seems to have drawn a whole lot of real supporters, who go all out in assisting her to win her way to the Queenship of the Rodeo. Miss Marie Berlin was born in Coleman, and since leaving high school now holds a position in the Empire Cafe. "She'll win the crown, or make a real hard try," say her score of supporters.

Coleman's big annual rodeo is a month away but already there are distant sounds that are easily recognizable to the rodeo conscious residents of the Pass as the Ki-Yipping of cowboys and the war whoops of Indians, without whom, no western show would be complete. Once a year, the miners of the Pass lay aside the implements of their calling and converge on the ball park, picturesquely situated above this coal mining town, to cheer their favorite range stars of the saddle.
The show is a one-day affair but Coleman's "Sky's the limit" attitude towards the event drama it with more spectacular color than similar shows in larger centers. The Rodeo was first staged four years ago and a sceptical Crow's Nest Pass gathered in Coleman to see what all the fuss was about.
Sponsors still shudder when they recall the headaches experienced in their inaugural efforts to sell the Stampede to a mining district but the miners and their families were "sold," hook line and Sleson. Succeeding problems have been relative to making each annual round-up bigger and better than the preceding one.
Ask for Lengthening of Parade Route
This was evident when the Rodeo committees met the other night to lay the groundwork for this year's "Big Day, Saturday, July 9". A letter was read from a Coleman organization asking that the parade route be extended for another block in order to accommodate this request it would be necessary to construct a bridge across Nez Perce Creek to allow the parade to return to its scheduled dispersal point in the school grounds.
A bridge at this particular spot has been considered for some time by town authorities but it has to be completed by July 9 to add to the efficiency of the parade, it is more than likely that town fathers will don cowboy regalia for their next Council meeting to see that it is done. Last year's parade was the longest ever staged in a Pass town, or any other town of similar size for that matter.
More Top-Notch Contestants Expected
Another, but pleasant problem confronting the Rodeo directors is the forwarding given them by the show's manager, Herman Linder, that Coleman will be the mecca for the world's finest Stampede performers as this year's event is being held on the eve of the Calgary Stampede, which opens two days later, and Linder has advised rodeo chairman Jim Wilkie that most if not all the world's championship contenders slated to appear in Calgary, will take part in the battle for Coleman's lucrative awards.

Biggest event in last year's show, the business-men's calf-roping contest will again be staged and more than one Coleman business establishment is being neglected, partially at least, as its proprietor, armed with a lariat, steals stealthily along the alleys, looking for stray dogs to practise their roping technique on.
The committees in whose hands the success of the July 9, Coleman Rodeo rests, are busy these days in getting all details of the day in smooth running order, and the interest in the event is gaining ground throughout the town and vicinity, with the Rodeo Queen Contest between the two local girls Miss Marie Berlin, sponsored by the Italian Society, and Miss Irene Hazuka, nominee of the Board of Trade, holding the present spot-light. This year being the first in which the contestants were but two.
Ticket Campaign Making Headway
Both young ladies are busy now in setting the pace in selling tickets in the Queen Contest, and while it is too soon to foresee the results of the contest, the girls and their different supporters are working hard in putting over the campaign.
Which one of the two Misses realizes the tops sales, will receive a winning prize valued at $125, while the second will receive one of $75 value. While the holder of the lucky ticket will receive an outstanding prize of a beautiful chrome kitchen suite, which will soon be on display in one of Coleman's leading store windows.
The Queen contenders will have plenty of competition for attention from ranged "Ladies" as the Michel, B.C. College Band has announced that it is bringing five majorettes to strut their stuff along the parade route.
Additional parade music will be furnished by the Coleman Pipe Band, under the leadership of Pipe-Major Jimmy Moore, and the inevitable groups of "old-timers".
In connection with the Rodeo, a two night carnival will be staged in the Coleman Arena on Friday and Saturday, July 8 and 9. Councillor George Jenkins heads the committee in charge of this project, which provides the huge Rodeo crowds with its evening diversion.

In nominating Miss Irene Hazuka to carry the colors of The Coleman Board of Trade, every faith in her ability to win her way to victory is evident by the members. Miss Irene Hazuka was born in Coleman, and was a student of the Coleman High School before entering the staff of the Canadian Bank of Commerce here. "An all out effort is being made to make her Queen", is the oft spoken word of her sponsors.

Coleman Baseball Team Win First League Game

The Senior Baseball League got away to a splendid start on Sunday, when the Kimberley Baseball club took the field in a close game against the Coleman squad, meeting defeat by a home run scored by Lefty Kimoto for the Coleman Cubs in the 10th inning.
The game commenced before a crowd of over 1000 fans with Mayor Frank Abbassay pitching the opening ball, and the visiting team from the west began to pile up a lead in the second inning by one run, followed by a four run inning in the third and another one run inning in the fifth, making the score 6 for Kimberley to Coleman's 2.
Holding this lead for the next two innings the visitors seemed to be well on the way to its initial victory, and to offset the loss at Blairmore which they suffered by a 13 to 10 run for the latter. In the seventh inning Coleman opened battle and succeeded in challenging up 3 runs to Kimberley's nil, which they duplicated in the eighth tying the game to the score of 6 all.
The game was finally won in the tenth inning, when Lefty Kimoto succeeded in striking a home run, bringing the game to a close in honor of his Coleman club.
During the game Stumpo Kimoto set the strike out record of 8 men for Coleman, and Gibbons, the Kimberley pitcher 5. Stumpo Kimoto was Coleman's chief base hitter, having to his credit the one home run and a three bagger in the eighth. Lefty had a perfect day at bat, being fanned but once.
Umpires were Peter Smith and O. Giaccumizi.
During the evening the crowd

It is expected that the induction of Rev. Fawcett to his Coleman charge will be held early in July.
Rev. R. Magowan Expected to Leave for Calgary
The Coleman Pastorate held by Rev. R. Magowan will terminate at the end of June, and Mr. and Mrs. Magowan expect to make their future home in Calgary. The well-wishes of the many members of St. Paul's church, and their many friends are extended to them in their departure.

It has been announced that the Coleman Junior Baseball Team is receiving the support and sponsoring of the Senior Baseball team, and a schedule for the season will appear in next week's Journal.

In connection with the Rodeo, a two night carnival will be staged in the Coleman Arena on Friday and Saturday, July 8 and 9. Councillor George Jenkins heads the committee in charge of this project, which provides the huge Rodeo crowds with its evening diversion.

During the evening tributes were paid to several honored guests at the Temple: Sister Sarah Jane Ford as Mother of the Temple; Sister Agnes Gillespie, Sister Agnes Denholm, as members of many years, also Sister Jane Johnston of Vancouver, celebrant of the Golden Wedding Anniversary held here on May 21, and Mrs. Mary Gunniss of Nanaimo, B.C. Mrs. Johnston being a charter member of the Coleman Temple, and Mrs. Gunniss a visiting member. All the above were presented with a beautiful corsage of various nations.
A delicious supper was served by the Coleman Ladies' Auxiliary. E. Clarke, J. Bayon, M. Clarke, A. Anderson, the supper table being prettily decorated with carnations, snap-dragon and Maidenhead fern.
In esteemed tribute to the honored guest's part in the formation of the lodge in Coleman, Most Excellent Chief Beatrice Hopkins expressed the Temple's pleasure in presenting a suitable gift to Mrs. Jack Johnston. Past Chief Mary Clarke completed the evening's list of worthy tributes by presenting a lovely corsage to Sister Isabelle Denholm. Mrs. Johnston paid the lodge most gracious thanks for their gifts and the lovely evening's festivities.
Following the supper, those present were entertained by a programme of songs, Sister Ethel Kostelnik most aptly singing "Mother", and Sister Maggie Martin, the ballad, "Fifty Long Years Ago". Sister Amy Penney was the accompanist.
The evening was brought to a fitting finish by the enjoyment of an old fashioned waltz.

MRS. J. R. EWING LANDS IN GLASGOW, SCOTLAND
Mrs. J. R. Ewing, left Calgary by Trans-Canada plane on May 18 to arrive in Montreal the next day, on which she took the Trans-Atlantic plane for Scotland, landing at Glasgow on May 21st.
The Coleman committee was unanimous in accepting her application, feeling that with her spirit it would add spice to the race for rodeo queen. They have put on a rush order for the tickets and hope to have them on sale by the end of the week.
Let's get out and buy enough tickets to make the Mystery Candidate take off her mask on rodeo day. She is showing true community spirit and deserves the support of the whole community.

Mrs. Wm. Antrobus Passed Away On Sunday Last

The many long time residents of Coleman will be grievously shocked to learn of the sudden passing away at her home here of Mrs. W. Antrobus, who died on Sunday, May 28th at around 2 p.m., while in her 72nd year.
Born in Sutton Oak, St. Helen's, Lancashire, England on December 9, 1876 where she was married. Mr. and Mrs. William Antrobus came to Coleman in May of 1912, and made their home here ever since, during which time she has a great number of friends, her work in the community being of great merit, especially her staunchness as member of St. Paul's United Church. For many years her husband and herself conducted a local dairy here, winning them a host of friends. Her sudden passing away was unexpected by many of her neighbors who had noticed her working in the garden but a few short days before. Her sterling devotion to her home and family has long endeared her to the members of the family.
To mourn her passing she leaves her husband Mr. William Antrobus at Coleman; two sons, Rev. F. Antrobus of Prince Rupert, B.C. and William of Victoria, B.C.; two daughters, Mrs. Alex Dunlop of Powell River, B.C. and Mrs. William Dewar of Newark, New Jersey; two brothers, Arthur Houghton, Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan and James Houghton of St. Helen's, Lancashire, England; three sisters, Mrs. W. Burrows of Coleman, Mrs. T. J. Thornton of Seattle, U.S.A. and Mrs. R. Robertson of Sutton Oak, St. Helen's, Lancashire, England.
FUNERAL JUNE 3
The funeral will be held from the home at 2.15 p.m. and from St. Paul's United Church at 2.30 p.m., Rev. Magowan officiating. Interment to be made in Union Cemetery.

Mystery Candidate Enters Race For Rodeo Queen

WHO IS SHE ?

Coleman has a civic minded woman who feels two candidates are not sufficient to make the race for rodeo queen very interesting.
Since no other organization would sponsor a queen she has volunteered to run independently providing we keep her name a mystery.
Miss ? states if she is the winner she will unmask during the ceremony, otherwise she will remain a mystery.

Mrs. J. R. Ewing, left Calgary by Trans-Canada plane on May 18 to arrive in Montreal the next day, on which she took the Trans-Atlantic plane for Scotland, landing at Glasgow on May 21st.

Exchange Of Ideas

ALTHOUGH TWO PROBLEMS are very rarely identical it is often helpful for those engaged in similar undertakings to exchange information and ideas regarding their work. Progress in many fields is accelerated in this way and it is always regrettable when wars or other barriers between nations prevent the free interchange of facts concerning new developments. In farming we have many problems which Canadian agricultural scientists are trying to solve, and in this, as in many other matters, it is always interesting to learn what is being done in other countries and whether we are making greater or less progress than those who have similar difficulties to overcome.

Could Compare Farm Problems

Recently Dr. E. S. Archibald, director of federal experimental farms, returned from New Zealand, where he learned the approach of scientists there to some of the problems which Canadian agriculturists face. Dr. Archibald visited the sister commonwealth as a member of the Canadian delegation to the Pacific Science Congress and during his journey he had the opportunity of observing the methods being used in New Zealand against soil erosion, a matter which is now of grave concern to all countries in which there are extensive farming operations. He also visited experimental stations throughout the country and had the opportunity of comparing them with those in Canada.

Of Benefit To Both Nations

In referring to his journey and to what he had seen in New Zealand, Dr. Archibald reported that that country has more favorable climatic conditions, giving most farmers there the advantage of year-round grazing for their cattle, with consequent greater returns in butter fat per acre than we have in Canada. He also said, however, that he believes "that research and experiment will make an immense contribution to Canadian agricultural prosperity through the improvement of the natural, soil-conserving food grass." No doubt the facts brought back by the scientists who visited New Zealand will be of value here and it is probable that they, in turn, were able to learn information of interest to research workers there. Such exchange of ideas on problems common to both countries, should prove of great mutual benefit.

Cow And Calf Were United

WACO.—This is the story of the bawling calf, the cow thief and the mama cow.

Not so long ago, Farmer Roy Long bought a cow. The cow had a calf. They were contented in a green pasture.

Roy went to a cattle auction sale. A cow was run into the ring. He liked the looks of the cow. It reminded him of the little calf's mother at home. So he bought the cow.

When Roy arrived home he heard the little calf bawling.

Roy turned the new cow loose in the pasture. The cow ran to the calf. The calf ran to the cow.

This made Roy suspicious. Yes sir, it was the little calf's mother which had been stolen from the pasture and taken to the auction ring. Roy, unknowingly, had bought her twice.

Where does the cow thief come in?

He will—just as soon as the sheriff can lay hands on him.

T.B. Comes From Infection

CHICAGO.—Tuberculosis in children of tubercular parents comes from infection after birth and not from inherited weakness. The Journal of the American Medical Association said.

The Journal said scientific knowledge denies the common belief that children of tubercular parents inherit susceptibility to the disease and that they have no inherited immunity to it.

The Journal said that children with a tubercular parent are more likely to contract the disease than other children if they stay in contact with the infected parent, however.

"The entire problem resolves itself into one of infection with tubercle bacilli, which usually occurs after birth," The Journal said.

THIS WHERE THE FISH CAUGHT THE MAN

PORT PIERCE, B.C.—A fish caught a man. The man got away. O. G. Hill hooked a big jewfish while angling from a bridge, then the fish pulled hard on the line, then let go for a moment. But it was a fishy trick, for the man came back with a mighty jerk.

Hill went over the rail into the water. He clung to a part of the bridge structure until other fishermen helped him to safety.

The fish also got away.

The group includes members of the local Potato, Swine and Poultry clubs.

FUNNY

And

OTHERWISE

The class had received a lesson on architecture.

"Now, Johnny," said the teacher, "can you tell me what a buttress is?"

Johnny thought hard, then a light shone in his eyes.

"Yes, teacher, a female goat."

Old Lady: "Do you know where little boys go when they smoke?"

Little Boy: "Yes, ma'am, up an alley."

The talkative lady was telling her husband about the bad manners of an acquaintance who had recently paid her a visit.

"If that woman yawned once while I was talking to her," she said, "she yawned 11 times."

"Perhaps she wasn't yawning, dear," the husband said; "maybe she wanted to say something."

"Alice," called the girl's father from upstairs, "what time is it?"

"I don't know, Father," replied Alice. "The clock isn't going."

"Well, is the young man?"

The novelist's small boy had just been brought to judgment for telling a lie. His sobs having died away, he sat for a long time in silent thought.

"Dad," he said at last, "how long will it be before I stop gettin' licked for tellin' lies and begin to get paid for 'em, like you do?"

First Business Man: "I've got a pretty good office boy now, but the little fellow whistles while he works."

Second Business Man: "You're lucky; mine only whistles."

"How many fish have you caught, uncle?" asked an observer of an old man fishing on the bank of a stream. "Well, six," answered the angler thoughtfully. "If I catch this one I'm after and two more, I'll have three."

The Professor: "I am about to perform a very interesting chemical experiment. Should I do anything wrong, the whole class, including myself, might be blown through the roof. Kindly step nearer, so that you can follow me better."

The mountaineer from North Carolina who had made a trip to New York—his first visit to a large city—was asked on his return how he liked the metropolis.

"Well," he drawled, "to tell the truth, I never did get to the town . . . There was too much goin' on around the depot!"

Stopping his car near a mountain shack in the Ozarks, a tourist called to the old woman sitting on the porch. "How far is it to the nearest town?"

"Pa giggers hits about 10 mile thar and about 12 back," she answered. "Which is on account of him walkin' straight goin' thar comin'!"

By Careless Campers

Report Reveals 3,306,000 Acres Of Timberland Destroyed In 1948

(By The Canadian Press)

WHILE Canadians planned their summer vacation, the Resources department held up a stark landscape of scenes the careless camper and sportsman left behind last year. Canadians, the department said in a report of 1948 forest fires, had a major hand in the destruction of 3,306,000 acres of their own timberland—an area more than 1½ times the size of Prince Edward Island.

Cost attributable to forest fires was highest since 1911, a record in the 20 years statistics have been kept. But the computable cost was minor compared with losses for which no figures can be calculated.

Canada paid more than $2,500,000 for fire-fighting alone—a record. In the 1948 fires, damage to timber, young growth and other property totalled $5,882,000.

"This, however," said the report, "evaluates the wood only, at prevailing stumpage rates and takes no account of other losses sustained by the wood-using industries."

"Moreover, the figure makes no provision for damage to soil and site."

Woman Pilot Sticks To Job Of Stenographer

EDMONTON.—One of Canada's few women pilots qualified to "fly anything with propellers" is going to keep right on with her stenographer's job at the Edmonton office.

Recently licensed as a transport pilot, Margaret Littlewood figures there are too many "boy pilots" looking for jobs these days for her to want to crash the field.

"But it's a personal satisfaction when I dreamed about 10 years ago when I first started to fly," she says. "I didn't know what a transport licence meant then, but I knew it was the highest rating a pilot can get. And I wanted it."

Margaret, who flies "for the fun of it" at the Edmonton flying club where she took the instruction that qualified her, says she's happily adjusted in her position of ace stenographer to Postmaster A. W. Gregory.

Having flown since 1939, the trim aviator has logged more than 1,000 hours since she first left the ground at a Toronto airport. Since that time, she has flown at Trenton, Ont., where she received her instructor's rating and has trained many other persons to fly tamer planes than the multi-engine craft she now takes up. She shrugs off the curiosity of people, saying: "It's no novelty any more than a woman can fly a plane."

INJURED CHILD, SIX, KNEW SHE WAS DYING

CHICAGO.—Pinned beneath a 100-pound flower box that toppled from a window ledge at her home, six-year-old Patricia Florence cried to rescuers, "Don't touch me, I'm dying." An hour and a half later she died in a Park Ridge hospital.

Search For Oil In Manitoba Stepped Up

WINNIPEG.—Increased activity in the intensive search for oil and gas in Manitoba was reported by officials of the provincial department of mines and resources when they confirmed that seismicographic surveys of the area south and west of Brandon have begun.

The surveys are being made by the Brandon Exploration company, a subsidiary of Standard Oil of California. The scientific hunt for oil-bearing formations believed to be lying under the farm lands in the extreme southwest corner of the province, will involve an outlay this year of between $150,000 and $160,000, officials said.

Other activity includes: A test well drilled near Lyleton, Man., about three miles north of the United States border, is down to the 3,000 foot level. It is being sunk by the Souris Valley Oil company, an independent concern, which is understood to have financial backing from Imperial Oil.

Rio Bravo, a subsidiary of Superior Oil company of California, a large independent, is also interested in the operations near Lyleton, according to information received by the provincial government.

Drilling is also being carried on in the Birdhill district by the Waynasecapo, Oil company, a Manitoba company.

May Curtail Prospecting In N.W. Territories

OTTAWA.—Summer survey and prospecting work in the North West Territories may have to be curtailed as result of epidemics in the area this winter, according to Dr. P. E. Moore, director of Indian health services.

"We want to discourage unnecessary travel to the north during the summer in case these epidemics may be spread," Moore said. "We won't stop those whose work is essential from going there, but we don't want tourists."

He said he was worried particularly about the polo outbreak at Chesterfield Inlet. Cases still were reported, he said, and since the disease was of a particularly virulent type, there was a danger that a traveller might spread it to the more populated district to the south.

The quarantine was still in force for Chesterfield Inlet and the surrounding district. He added, and a semi-quarantine would probably be necessary for at least six months.

The influenza outbreak that caused 15 deaths among Eskimos at Cambridge Bay had spread to the northern islands and to Coppermine, Moore said. However, the disease seemed now to be under control.

WET BASEMENTS

WET basements and water in the cellar to different depths is still a serious source of trouble in this country.

Water usually gets into the basement in one of the following two ways, either it soaks through the wall from the soil around the house during periods of heavy rain or in the spring of the year when the water table or water level in the soil rises to a point above the level of the cellar floor, or it comes through the cellar floor due to the fact that water in the soil stands at a higher level than the level of the cellar floor.

Where water soaks through the wall and comes through the joints or cracks in the walls, running down the wall to the floor, it is often possible to avoid the trouble by digging a trench along the side of the house.

where the trouble occurs, clean the mortar and loose dirt thoroughly from the wall, then giving it a coat of concrete plaster and over this a coat of hot asphalt pitch, especially prepared for this purpose. In other cases it is possible to treat the trouble successfully by merely digging a trench along the side of the house and installing a tile drain in the bottom of the trench on a level lower than that of the cellar floor. For best results, such a trench should be back filled with porous material, such as cinders or gravel so that any water accumulating along the side of the foundation will gravitate to the drain rather than soak through the wall.

The accompanying drawing shows various kinds of treatment for wet basements. The farm tile drains laid along the edge of the footing at "A" are shown where they meet and are joined to the outlet drain which must be run to some open ditch or other low ground to serve as an outlet for any water that may be gathered by the drain.

It is never wise to build a basement in which the floor is on a level so low that it is not possible to secure an outlet for a gravity drain from the structure. Where houses are found in this condition, the only solution is to pump the water out and there are available today electric pumps which can be installed in pits or sumps, located in the low corner of the cellar, which will start pumping as soon as the water rises to a certain height in the sump, and which will stop when this accumulation has been removed. However, electric power is necessary for the operation of this type of pump.

Tons Of Pressure

Keeping basements dry is far more readily and inexpensively handled while the house is being built than if treatment has to be undertaken afterwards. Many contractors and homeowners have the idea that it is possible to make a water-tight basement. As a matter of fact, however, it is very difficult for even the most careful contractor to guarantee a water-tight basement in a location where the water table is at any time above the level of the cellar floor. Such an accumulation of soil water develops a very heavy pressure against the cellar floor, which pressure in many cases is enough to crack the concrete of the floor through sheer upward pressure. This will readily be understood when we remember that where the water stands one foot higher in the soil than the level of the cellar floor, the pressure on the floor will amount to 62½ pounds per square foot, or over 3 tons on each floor area 10 feet square. Only heavy reinforcing with steel in a very heavy floor will enable a floor to withstand such pressure.

Then there is the difficulty of making a permanent water-tight joint between the edges of the floor and the surface of the foundation wall. Some kind of flexible material is necessary in this joint, and various commercial materials are available for this purpose, nevertheless, in time, water may begin to seep through and around such material, and the structure is no longer water-tight. The accompanying drawing shows, however, how such basement walls should be built to insure best results of a permanent nature.

Know Your Provinces

Over Forty Per Cent. Of Land Area In Manitoba Is Forested

It is surprising to the average Prairie farmer to know that over forty per cent. of Manitoba's land area is forested. Of this area there is estimated to be 30,496 square miles of productive, and 62,513 square miles of unproductive forest.

Seven separate areas containing 4,391 square miles are set aside as publicly-owned forest reserves, and the greater part of the remaining forest lands are also owned by the Province.

The most common tree species in order of importance are white and black spruce, aspen and balsam poplar, jack pine, tamarack, white birch, balsam fir and cedar. But oak, white elm, green ash, basswood, red pine, Manitoba maple, cottonwood and black ash also occur. In addition, there are several species of large shrubs or small trees, including some fruit-growing species such as plums, cherries and Saskatoon.

In the year 1945 Manitoba sawmills, produced 43,600,000 feet of lumber, a considerable part of which came from Saskatchewan logs. In the same year the production of pulpwood in Manitoba amounted to 87,500 cords, a large proportion of which was manufactured into newsprint paper within the province.

About 650,000 cords of fuelwood is produced each year, most of which is used on farms, although the fuelwood industry supplies large quantities of wood to towns and cities. Other important forest products are railway ties, telephone and hydro poles, fence posts, mine props, and boxwood. The total value of forest products (including paper), was $9,627,000 for the year 1945.

Drug Curtails Whooping Cough

WASHINGTON.—Government scientists are working on a new treatment for whooping cough which already has cured the disease in a few days among some patients. The Public Health Service reported that experiments indicate that aureomycin, a relatively non-toxic antibiotic which can be given by mouth, may shorten the course of the disease and lessen its intensity. Thus far 20 patients have been treated in their homes with "apparently" beneficial results, it said. Some recovered completely within a few days when the drug was administered early in the course of the disease.

Two hollow-eyed, bleak looking Scots were discussing a wild party they had attended the night before. "Dye ken," said one of them, "that Mac fell in the river on his way home last night?"

With some effort the other Scot focused his thoughts upon this dreadful intelligence.

"Ye dinna mean tae say that he was drowned?" he inquired fearfully. The other shook his head, albeit a little slowly and painfully.

"Na, na," he replied, "not drowned, but sadly dilapidated!"

Canadian Fashions To Fly To Paris

MONTREAL.—One of the most interesting fashion shows in the history of Canadian fashion will take place early in July when an all-Canadian show leaves Canada to be presented in Paris at the World Congress being held at that time.

The invitation has been received by the Marquis de Roussy de Sales of Montreal from the Club France-America, an organization for the promotion of good-neighbourly relationship between all the Americas and Paris.

Through the medium of a fashion show, the Club delegates, members of the French Embassy and their wives will be introduced to the Canadian Woman: Her Way of Life.

The flight is being organized by Ben Crossman and Betty Hughes-Koren will be commentator and fashion controller.

Brides, Attention

If you're having three bridesmaids, and they are posing a problem for the walk down the aisle, one solution is to lead off with one bridesmaid, followed by a pair of bridesmaids, then last, the maid of honor. An even better solution, to my simple way of thinking, is to arrange the procession in single-file fashion. Of course, a whole bevy of attendants calls for them moving down the aisle in pairs.

Clean-Up Week

Although the annual clean-up week got under way on Monday the stormy start of the week has hindered its full progress, and rainy weather never does add to the pleasant results. Several citizens with intentions of cleaning up their home property have always in mind a job of using a paint brush in the retouching of their fences and buildings, and in this matter the care of paint brushes, should add to the future use of such implements, and the directive of such care, as outlined in the following, should guide the user in the endeavor:

Paint Brush Care

"A good paint brush deserves care. Unless properly cleaned before it is put away, the brush is likely to be ruined since any residue or paint will dry so hard in the bristles that will be difficult to soften and remove them without damaging them.

"Miss Caroline Judson, Home Designing Specialist, Alberta Department of Agriculture, says that for better service and longer life the brush should be rinsed carefully in turpentine, washed in benzine or commercial brush cleaner several times, and hung up by the handle to dry. The brush should then be wrapped in waxed or oiled paper and laid on a shelf with the bristles straight. Never put a brush into a can of turpentine with the bristles resting on the bottom of the can.

Another method of storing brushes for a period of time is to suspend them in linseed oil or turpentine, making a hole in the cover through which the brush handle will pass, and then hanging the brush from the cover so that the bristles are immersed in the liquid. Be sure the bristles are straight and do not touch the bottom of the can.

Never store a brush in water advises Miss Judson. The bristles will gradually absorb water and when the brush is again used, the paint will seal the water in the bristles and they will become soggy and limp.

Red Shield Drive

THE RED SHIELD, SALVATION ARMY SYMBOL, AND SOMETHING ABOUT IT

During the next two weeks the term "Red Shield" will be on many lips. To practically everyone its use will have reference to The Salvation Army, and to that worthy organization's annual appeal for funds.

Since its beginning some eighty years ago, The Salvation Army has been called many names! Some were decidedly opprobrious, especially in the early days when The Salvation Army's aims and methods were not understood or misinterpreted. But the Salvationists didn't mind, and the explosives, like any another form of persecution, did not in any way retard The Army's growth.

In the first world war the term "Salvation Army Lassie" was the favorite description of Tommy Atkins for everyone who wore a bonnet of blue with scarlet facings. These "Lassies" endeavored themselves to the troops back their selfless service, often under fire. They added that quality of service to the distribution of refreshments that transformed for weary, emaciated men, "coffee into nectar and doughnuts into manna from heaven". And the fighting men didn't forget!

In the second world war Salvation Army operations among the troops were carried on to an extent which, by comparison, makes World War I's effort look relatively small. But the spirit of service was the same, and the reaction of the fighting men was exactly the same. "Hallelujah Lassie" became "Sally Ann", and the term and symbol of the Red Shield became a pass-word in canteen and other auxiliary operations. Millions of sheets of notepaper bearing the Red Shield found their way back to Canada from all the battle fronts of the earth, so that the folk at home became almost as familiar with the symbol as the uniformed husbands and sons.

But how and where did the Red Shield originate? The Salvation Army, as almost everyone knows, bases its principles and practices upon the Bible, and the choice of this symbol is no exception. In the Book of Nahum, the Prophet declares: "The shield of his mighty men is made red; the valiant men are in scarlet".

The allusion is appropriate: "mighty men with red shields", the warriors of right and helplessness. And while The Salvation Army has taken the red shield for its symbol it would be the last to claim for itself the title of "mighty men". Its spirit is essentially modest, though its wish and will to serve is vigorously ambitious.

Red is the color of courage. The Shield is a weapon both of offense and defense. Its more sentimental connotation is also apt, for since its inception The Salvation Army has been "shielding" the hungry and the homeless, the sorrowing and the sinning, in all parts of the world, and not least of all in the Dominion of Canada.

During the Red Shield Appeal for funds currently in progress the people of Coleman and district will have an opportunity of helping the Salvation Army in its tremendous, self-imposed, need-demanding task. When the canvasser calls "Give from the heart", or send your donation direct to The Red Shield Appeal, The Salvation Army, Coleman.

FIVE DISPLACED PERSONS DEPORTED

The Canadian representative of the International Refugee Organization stated that five persons brought to Canada from displaced persons camps had been returned to the camps.

The persons had been deported for lack of co-operation and had not measured up to the requirements of their occupations. Their physical background had not been fully disclosed before coming to Canada.

Out of the thousands of workers who had been brought to this country from the D.P. Camps, there were very few cases where it was necessary to send them back. The vast majority of these new Canadians have proven themselves to be faithful and conscientious workers but in a few cases there has been evidence that kindness and consideration has been taken for weakness and in such cases the persons will be returned.

EXPLOSIVES CAUSE 30 DEATHS

One hundred and thirty-three accidents in the use and handling of explosives, resulting in 30 deaths and 150 injuries, are reported by the Bureau of Mines in its fiscal year report. Most of these occurred in mining, logging, construction, and farming industries, but almost one-third were the result of children playing with detonators, fire-works, and other explosives.

Would Like To See Home and School Association Formed

When I was asked to write an article for this week's paper, one of the first topics that came to my mind was the need for a Home and School Association here in Coleman. Probably most of you have heard of the Home and School Association, but I wonder how many of you know just what it is, and what it does? In this article, and in others in future editions, I am going to try to outline its formation, its purpose, the type of work it does, and how it can benefit you.

The Home and School Association is not just another service club, or another lodge, or another place where the ladies can discuss their grievances over a cup of tea. It is an organization whose purpose is to promote co-operation between the parents and teachers of this town, so that your children may have a better education, and a healthier life.

This Association is run neither by the teachers, nor by yourselves. Only by co-operation between you and the teachers can it help your children. Neither is this association for women only. Both parents can and must help, for both parents share the responsibility for their children's education. With the full support of the parents and teachers, the Home and School Association can become very influential, and a great power for good in the community.

The aims and ideals of the Association are best expressed in the following excerpt from the bulletin of the Association. "The purpose of the Home and School Association is to promote the welfare of children and youth in home, school, church and community; to raise the standards of home life; to secure adequate laws for the care and protection of youth; to bring into closer relation the home and the school; to develop between educators and the general public such united efforts as will secure for every child the highest educational advantages."

Every mother and father who have a child in school should be vitally interested in making this association work, for it can mean that a schooling and training second to none can be made available to the most important people in the world, your children.—Michael F. Dewdney.

training second to none can be made available to the most important people in the world, your children.—Michael F. Dewdney.

Clean-Up Of Local Cemetery Urged

Last week when Mr. Johnston was celebrating his golden wedding here, he told us how the cemetery came to be in its present position. Apparently there was a good deal of argument about where it should be placed, but it was quickly settled when a grave and tombstone were found at the present site. The tombstone appeared to be very old, and no one knew whose grave it was, but this placed their problem for them. Land was cleared around it, a fence was erected and the cemetery has been there ever since.

Whoever the man was who was buried there, he picked a good place for his grave, because the most beautiful view from anywhere around Coleman is from the cemetery. Tourists often ask their way up there, so that they can see the view, and it has become a favourite place for Sunday afternoon walks.

Since the cemeteries are so beautiful, and since they are so often visited by tourists, the cemeteries should harmonize with their surroundings. In walking up there the other day we noticed that the cemetery is very untidy, with many graves falling into ruin, and weeds all around. Perhaps you do keep your own relatives' graves clean, but there are many graves in the cemetery which have no one to care for them. Remember that they too loved and were loved by someone once, and now no one cares about them.

So during these beautiful spring weeks, how about getting out and cleaning up the cemetery? And remember, don't just clean up your relatives' graves. Help to clean up the cemetery as a whole, and make it a place you can be proud of. Surely you want those whom you held dear to lie in as beautiful a place as possible?

Michael F. Dewdney.

MacLeod To Celebrate 75th Year.

Recalling the birth of the town of Macleod in September, 1874, with the arrival of the North West Mounted Police, under the command of Colonel J. F. Macleod, a three day celebration will be held on June 30th to July 2nd.

It will be one of the greatest historical pageants witnessed in southern Alberta, three days packed with thrills and entertainment, commencing with a three mile parade on Thursday morning, June 30th, and concluding with the largest pyrotechnic display on Saturday, July. This fireworks display will include many set pieces designed especially for this 75th anniversary.

The Jubilee will be opened by Commissioner Stuart Wood of the RCMP. Three Queens will be crowned, a white queen and two Indian queens from the Blood and Peigan reserves. Four outstanding Canadian citizens will be initiated into the Blood and Peigan tribes in a colorful ceremony at a model Indian village in the town square.

Every afternoon there will be a thrilling program of stampee events, with Monty Montana and his eleven riders and ropers putting on their special acts between stampee events. Every evening a splendid program of stampee attractions will be given including a musical ride performed by 30 members of the Lethbridge Riding Academy.

On Friday evening two steers will be barbecued right in the centre of the town and visitors will have the opportunity of enjoying a luscious hot beef sandwich carved from the animal while tendering on the spit.

Mrs. A. E. Cross of Calgary, daughter of the late Colonel J. F. Macleod, will dedicate the handsome Macleod Memorial Gates leading to the central park morning July 2. These gates were and swimming pool on Saturday Cross in memory of her father. At the model Indian village the Blood and Peigan tribes presented to Macleod by Mrs. hold their Indian dances every evening during the Jubilee, in the town square when visitors will be invited to join in the mystic and weird steps of the chicken, dog and other tribal dances.

Seven bands will furnish the music for the opening parade with its Indian chiefs, squaws, travois, cowboys, cowgirls, old-time stage coaches, industrial and other floats, a three mile parade that will prove a mecca to all camera fans. This will be held on the morning of June 30.

The Mayor of Macleod, who is also chairman of the Jubilee committee, issues a special invitation to everyone on these three days, enjoy a holiday never to be forgotten, at the same time paying tribute to those North West Mounted policemen of 1874, who made possible 75 years of peace and prosperity to Western Canada.

You Can Defeat Your Biggest Tax Problem . . .

That is the 8% sales tax. The one the budget missed. The one that hits you hardest. This quotation

" . . . This tax costs the Canadian taxpayers 30 cents for every dollar of processed material" from a Liberal member of Parliament shows what the government is doing to keep taxes high . . . despite the "bribery" reductions in the budget.

So that you may have a sure, adequate income, the Progressive Conservative Party will

- Reduce sales taxes.
- Provide deductions to farmers for members of family who contribute to revenue.
- Reduce income tax rates and increase exemptions.
- End the administrative persecution of farmers by tax collectors.

For your protection the Progressive Conservative Party will take these steps:

PRICES

—Permanent floor price legislation based on these principles:

- A definite formula in the Farm Prices Support Act for arriving at floor prices.
- The formula will allow for variations in production and demand for individual products.
- Floor prices will be announced well in advance of production period.
- The floor price formula will be arrived at in consultation with representatives of producers.

EXPORT MARKETS

Restoration of the Canadian Wheat Board to serve its original purpose as a Marketing Agency for wheat producers . . . and its extension to include the handling of coarse grains.

Inclusion of representatives of farmer's organizations on all Boards dealing with farm matters. Aggressive and immediate action to recapture lost markets; the development of new markets; to achieve security of export markets through foresighted negotiations.

Dominion marketing legislation based on the principle of democratic producer control.

PRODUCTION

Reclamation and conservation of existing soil resources; development of new producing lands through irrigation; greater accessibility to domestic markets by improved transportation facilities.

GOOD AND BAD HAWKS—The majority of farmers say a good hawk is a dead hawk. This theory has been based on the behaviour of the three "bad boys" of the hawk clan, the Goshawk, Coopers Hawk and the Sharp-shinned Hawk. The good hawks outnumber the bad ones because greater majority of them live on rabbits, rats, mice and insects, which in turn are true enemies of the farmer. The Marsh Hawk has good and bad habits, the Red-tailed Hawk balances the scale, slightly on the good side, while the Broad-winged Hawk, Rough-legged Hawk and the Red-shouldered Hawk are almost entirely beneficial. Pictured above are left to right: A Red-tailed Hawk stands over a dead chicken; a crow bluffing a Red-tailed Hawk; a young Red-tailed Hawk just after leaving nest; young Rough-legged Hawks near time of leaving nests; young Sparrow Hawk at the door of his home—a Flicker's hole.

ALBERTA HAS WORST FIRE IN ITS HISTORY—The worst in history in the forest fire which has raged in Alberta, say forestry officials. Wall of flame has destroyed homes of scores of people as it feeds on timber left dry by one of the most rainless springs in the province's history.

WAR ORPHANS ARRIVE AT NEW HOME—Happy to be in Canada are these European war orphans who now are guests at the spacious Mount Mary Immaculate orphanage at Ancaster, Ont. They received a warm greeting from children at the home who donned their best clothes to welcome their new friends. The little girl in front, received a bouquet of lilacs. Asked personally by Pope Pius XII to find foster homes for displaced Catholic orphans, Cardinal James McGuigan was on hand to welcome children to Canada.—S.N.S. photo.

WEDDING COST $100,000—Montreal's most expensive wedding ceremony, said to have cost $100,000, took place when Phyllis Bronfman, shown, daughter of the president of leading Canadian distillery, was married to Jean Lambert of Paris and New York. Flowers, flown by chartered plane, included 15,000 Essex county lilacs.—S.N.S. photo.

FROM HER ROYAL HIGHNESS—A ROSETTE—Princess Elizabeth has a charming smile for a champion as she presents a rosette to R. Lister, rider of Moonstone who was reserve champion in the hunter class at the Royal Horse show held in the home park of Windsor Castle, recently. Her royal highness was accompanied to the show by her consort, Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh.—S.N.S. photo.

FUR TRADE DOWN—The bottom has fallen out of the trapping trade in the northern Manitoba outpost of Churchill. Veterans of the trapline have been forced to turn to other jobs, holding that trapping no longer is a profitable venture because of the combination of low fur prices and high cost of living. Art A. Anderson, fur buyer, says that five years ago he paid as high as $25 for a red fox pelt. This year prices ranged from 75 cents to $3. Out of that the trapper pays a government royalty of 25 cents. Fox pelts (such as those pictured here) are selling cheaply.—S.N.S. photo.

WOLVES, BEWARE!—Who's afraid of wolves? No one according to Canadian fashion models who are unanimous in saying the only girls who are bothered by wolf calls are those who want to be. But, just in case, this petite miss is prepared for the worst. And underneath those boxing gloves are brass knuckles.

STOPPED THE WIND—To stop the wind from blowing his clover and timothy seed helter-skelter, Gordon Woelfe fastened cardboard strips to his seed drill's spokes. He is shown sowing Ajax oats at his farm near Williamsburg, Ont. Although the day was windy, the clover seed had become as docile as the Ajax.

INGENIOUS DEVICES FOR SAFE-CRACKERS—Lined up behind an array of safe-cracking equipment are four young men who were arrested by New York police as they were attempting to break into two offices in the Times Square area. Four detectives checking a subway locker in search of more tools owned by the gang were burned when gas from acetylene containers exploded in their faces. Pictured, (left to right), are: Allen Coulter, 21; Michael Pereira, 21; Calvin Coolidge Izzo, 25, and William Masters, 21. Police said the quartet had in their possession a walkie-talkie radio set, acetylene torches, two containers of oxyacetylene gas and other cutting tools.—S.N.S. photo.

"BIG, BLACK BEAR" SEEN BY BOYS—The black bear which freed Albert Taylor, seven, in Highland Creek bushland near Toronto, Ont., as he was on his way to school has disappeared as quickly as it came. A thorough search of the area brought no trace of the bear. Like the preacher in the song, Albert Taylor went up a tree when he saw the bear. "It was this big and all black," he reports. A school chum also saw the animal and footprints were found.—S.N.S. photo.

THE ADVANTAGE OF OXEN—If oxen keep the traditional Land of Evangeline alive, the Nova Scotian farmer that drives them is not too concerned with history. He has his own reasons for sticking to the plodding animals. Nowadays a good pair of oxen can cost the farmer as much as oxen even wear shoes, and the blacksmith hefts the oxen in a sling, (top picture), fastening the feet so they can be fitted; skidding big timber to the stock pile, (lower picture), is another job which oxen do well.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

THE LETTER TO LESTER ::

The Tragedy Of A Broken Home Hung Over A Sick Bed.

By WALTER DESMOND BOOTH

MISS SARA WORTHY was very ill, and it was not expected that she would live. She had been ailing most of her life, but she had been fortunate in having her only sister, Alice, to minister to her. Neither had married, and had grown old together in the rambling house their father had left them 50 years before.

As Miss Alice sat by her sister's side she turned over in her mind the tangled events of their lives. She made up her mind that she would throw off a burden she had borne all these years. Not that it would matter now, but her conscience would at least rest easy.

Miss Alice laid a hand on her sister's arm. "Sara," she said softly, "Sara turned her head slowly and looked at her. 'I hear you, Alice.' 'Aie you strong enough to listen to me?'"

"I'm quite strong now, Alice." "I don't know how to start, and it isn't a very good time to bring up the subject at all, but I can't wait any longer. Sara, I have a confession. Forty-nine years ago next month you were supposed to be married to Lester Mankin. But you two had a little spat—remember?—and what was it all about? Oh, yes, it was about whether or not you would live with his people or with ours. I don't know whether the quarrel was worth what you two put into it but he left in a rage, saying that you would never hear from him again until he heard the right word from you. Lester was awfully proudful."

She paused in pensiveness, then continued. "Three days later you wrote him a letter. I don't know what you wrote him—that you wanted to make up, I guess—for you said that—"

Miss Sara raised her hand feebly. Miss Alice pushed on. "Not now, Sara. Let me finish. As I was saying, you wrote a letter to Lester. I can guess that you had swallowed your pride. I did walk down with you to mail it. Do you remember that you asked me to go, Sara?"

Sara tried again to say something. Again Alice stopped her. "No, wait, Sara. I'm not through." She began slowly again. "I saw you trail the letter, Sara. You did your part, but—she lowered her voice—"you never did hear from him." The tragedy of a broken love hung heavy over the sick bed.

"Sara, I saw you mail your letter, and—"

I said? I let you forget to address the letter. You can understand now, can't you, Sara, why Lester never answered or called you?" She lowered her voice again to make the supreme confession. "You must certainly realize now, Sara, why I let you mail the letter unaddressed. I myself loved Lester, so I couldn't stand by and see him marry you. He might have loved me, if it hadn't been for you. But I didn't have the chance after what happened. He wouldn't even come near the house—and finally left town." She spoke passionately. "Sara, I loved him

Expect Record

In Sugar Beets

WINNIPEG.—With a normal

weather year and an average yield,

Manitoba will have a record sugar beet crop in 1949. The Manitoba

Sugar Co. has 17,500 acres under cultivation more than 50 per cent over the 11,000 acres under contract in 1948.

In 1940, the first year the plant operated, contracts were made for planting 15,700 acres but the yield per acre was only 6.07 tons, lowest on record. This year, as in previous years, sugar beet production will be confined to an area within approximately 60 miles of Winnipeg.

Manager of Edmonton's first, Norman McDonald, said it is hoped to keep the theatre open until November. Heaters will be provided for

RIPENS EARLIER

EDMONTON.—Andrew Fruno of

Edmonton has coaxed a tomato plant into ripening four to five days earlier than other good garden varieties in Canada in his own garden plot and the cross-breed is creating interest in university botany departments in Western Canada.

The plant has been included in department of agriculture trials all across Canada and R. J. Hilton, associated professor of horticulture at the University of Alberta in Edmonton, reports the fruit ripened four to five days earlier than other stand-

Soil Experts' Work May Be Tested

REGINA.—The careful work of soil experts to prevent recurrence of the dusty 30's may be tested this year.

Leading prairie agriculturists say that, although periods of drought may recur, the destructive soil drifting of the 1930's that turned much of Saskatchewan into a wasteland is being controlled to a great extent by strip-farming and irrigation. The test may come in 1949, for Saskatchewan's farms need rain.

In the last decade the number of Saskatchewan farmers has dropped from 140,000 to 125,000. Many left in the "bad years."

Much of the land which in the 1930's became a rolling ocean of sand has been reclaimed. Seventy-six community pastures since 1937 have been formed of sub-marginal land and nearly 1,500,000 acres have been covered with firmly-rooted crested wheat grass. Strip farming also has become more extensive.

The "grim times" include 1937 when Saskatchewan's farms produced the all-time low average of only 2.7 bushels of wheat to the acre. Only 36,000,000 bushels of wheat were grown that year.

In the bumper crop year of 1942 the return was 25 bushels to the acre—a total of 304,000,000 bushels.

May Recruit Women Again

OTTAWA.—Defense Minister Brooke Claxton gave a brief and guarded indication that women might again be recruited into the armed forces.

Claxton declined to comment in detail on the possibility of the wartime Canadian Women's Army Corps, the Women's Royal Canadian Naval Service, and the R.C.A.F. Women's Division being revived on a peacetime basis.

He said, however, that experts in his department were giving serious consideration to starting voluntary recruiting of women.

All three women's services were disbanded after the war.

It Happened To A Carpenter

STEWART, B.C.—It happened to a carpenter, of all people.

Wrecking a building at nearby Hyder, he saved the plank he was standing on—between himself and the building.

Several "sidewalk superintendents" trampers tell him about the mistake, but he didn't hear them.

Plank and carpenter crashed 15 feet to the ground.

Unhurt, the workman got up, shook himself and walked home.

A Farm Storage Tank
Doesn't "Cost" IT PAYS!

A farm storage tank permits you to buy and store enough fuel at one time to be sure of having a supply on hand when you need it. No costly delays when tractors stand idle, waiting for fuel to be delivered.

It helps to keep fuel clean and avoid plugging of fuel lines and carburetors with grit, dust or water. The tank can be mounted with enough slant to cause any impurities to settle away from the outlet.

It saves time in re-fueling tractors and trucks, if the tank is mounted overhead. Gravity flow is quicker than pumping or pouring. It prevents the spillage of the pump-and-pail method... or the wastage of the "last gallon" that is often left in the bottom of each barrel.

A farm storage tank pays in added safety, because it can be located well away from house, barn or sheds.

Tanks come in three sizes. The price is reasonable. See your Imperial Oil Agent.
